

“Growing up in Aroostook County, I experienced the essential nature of the Postal Service every day and continue to be a staunch supporter of the USPS. Throughout my service in the Senate, I have worked to find common ground on reforms to enable the USPS to reduce operating costs, modernize its business model, and innovate to generate new revenue, without harming its workers or compromising its ability to fulfill the universal service obligation.”

- Sen. Susan Collins letter to Postmaster General Louis DeJoy, August 13, 2020

ACTUALLY, SENATOR SUSAN COLLINS HAS VOTED TO CRIPPLE RURAL POSTAL SERVICE

- On January 25, 2015, overnight delivery of first-class mail was virtually eliminated. Source: U.S. Postal Service
- Moving to five-day mail service would not only reduce service for customers, but also put mail volumes and revenues at risk. Source: U.S. Government Accountability Office, 3/29/11

- X Collins voted against an amendment to protect the Postal Service’s six-day service. For many working people and our veterans, Saturday is the one day they can sign for packages, including for delivery of prescription drugs. Source: S. 1789, 4/24/12, Roll call 72
- X Collins voted against an amendment which would preserve 1-3-day delivery and keep mail processing facilities open. Source: S. 1789, 4/25/12, Roll call 80
- X Collins voted against an amendment to extend the moratorium on the closing and consolidation of postal facilities or post offices, stations, or branches. Source: S. 1789, 4/25/12, Roll call 77

On November 3, its time to make sure that
Collins’s next Senate term is CANCELLED
